Matthew Bailey ~ Jennifer Bain

June 19-22, 2022

This press trip will take you on an historical and natural journey exploring some of the most historic spots in Nova Scotia brought to you by Parks Canada. Depart Halifax and spend your first day learning about the many cultures that helped shape Nova Scotia including the British, Scots, French, Mi'kmaq and Acadian peoples as you explore Grand-Pré National Historic Site, Port-Royal National Historic Site and Fort Anne National Historic Site. Make your way to Kejimikujik National Park and National Historic Site and set yourself up for 2 nights in your private oTENTik accommodations (part tent, part cabin), nestled amongst leafy canopies along the shore of Kejimikujik Lake. Spend a day exploring hiking trails through old growth forests, gentle biking trails, some with mountain bike features, and historic canoe routes, perfect for the seasoned or beginner paddler. Learn why it's the only National Park in Canada that is also a National Historic Site on a guided tour of the Petroglyphs. This is where the Mi'kmaq made their mark thousands of years ago, leaving stone carvings on the shores of Kejimikujik Lake. Enjoy two campfire cookouts complete with authentic Nova Scotia ingredients. When the sun goes down, experience the astronomical depth of this Royal Astronomy Society of Canada (RASC) designated Dark-Sky Preserve. Your private guide will share Mi'kmaw stories/myths/legends and assist you in gazing at brilliant celestial bodies and discover how stars have inspired centuries of story, song, and legend in Southwest Nova Scotia.
